About Cadereo

Origins

Cadereo has its origins in the development of car tyres. The headquarter is located in the Shibuya district in Tokyo, Japan.

After years of research, development, design and production, a vast knowledge of materials and construction has been built up, that can be applied to golf grips.

This know-how results in the design of the "Pentagon Grooves", the sensational feel and the long lasting designs, due to an unique multi-layer composition.

Sustainability

Furthermore, all toxic substances have been banned from the factory and removed from the products.

As the first producer of golf grips, some models are even biological degradable and ecofriendly, made from renewable natural rubber.

This natural rubber has been engineered to contain the natural agent - "Scallow" - which is made from scallop shells and has many positive effects, e.g. Antibacterial properties.

The possibility to mount the grips with air due to its special construction is having a positive impact to the environment and health, as no adhesives and activators need to be used - as well the grip can be easily removed and reused.

Style & Innovation

Golf grips haven't been treated as a fashion items for golfers yet. Cadereo's focus is on the choice of colours and designs for all tastes.

The design is printed on the core of a multi-layer construction, with a translucent outer layer, made of high quality, thermoplastic elastomer (hydrogenated SEBS). Therefore the design cannot deteriorate or rub off and the grips won't get stains or discolored - even in the brightest designs.

Acompanied by the standard product range, each year limited editions with fancy designs will be released.

2x2 Pentagon

2x2 Pentagon has a multi-layer construction with black or white core, printed with the distinct Cadero logo and covered with a translucent, thermoplastic, technical elastomer (Hydrogenated SEBS) for durable design, unique look and feel. This creates a tacky feel like no other golf grip and good traction due to the pentagon shaped grooves, which are located opposite of the logo.

Air Type Assembly

Notice!

Cadero grips might be damaged, if the air pressure is too high.

Do not use a compressor that cannot adjust air pressure.

When installing the grip, keep the air pressure to 0.15kg/cm² or less

Please attach our recommended air gun to the grip end.

Please set the grip tip to the end of the shaft.

Please attach the grip tip to the shaft while injecting air.

After inserting the grip, please raise the air pressure to 0.25 kg / cm 2.

Please keep injecting air and push until the grip stops.

Please check that the grip was completely inserted until the end.

Please make sure that the grip is installed straight.

You are ready to hit!

Fake Grips

Please be careful with Cadero grips from any unauthorised source.

Cadere is popular & innovative. Therefore counterfeiters have targeted the brand and are selling fake, multi-layer grips online (Amazon, Ebay, Wish, Grandado, etc.) and are mimiking the grips but are lacking the know-how, material and quality.

The general importer outside Japan is the DRAGON GmbH with its main distributor Ryu Sports GmbH and affiliated retail partners and online shop (www.cadere.shop).

Always buy at official sources - and in doubt, please contact us: info@cadere.shop

LOGO

As you can see the fake's logo is more yellowish than official and character is smaller and tight.

PENTAGON SHAPE

Fake's pentagon is shallower and powdery so once you rub with fingers, surface peels off.

FAQ

Is it possible to assemble “Air type” grips with tape on the shaft?

Yes, it is possible but not recommended. The reason why we don't recommend it, is that the construction of the AT grip is different. The inside core is thicker to provide a firm and secure fit to the shaft without any need of tape. Assembling with tape would increase the stress furthermore and could damage the grip.

Which solvent not to use for “Under tape” grips?

CADERO grips are made from thermoplastic Elastomer rubber & natural rubber. Those materials have a low compatibility in combination with strong solvents like thinner, benzene and toluene.

The recommendation is to use WHITE GASOLINE. If the Elastomer rubber is in contact with an inadequate solvent, don't wipe grip roughly. Wash the grip with water or with a synthetic detergent.

Is it ok to use two tapes for “UT” grips?

CADERO Elastomer grips have a multilayer structure so it hardly stretches compared to normal rubber grips. A use of +3 tapes is possible - but not strongly suggested.

CADERO AB Natural Rubber & Synthetic Rubber grips are suitable for +2 tapes.

Does the grip peel off?

Elastomer rubber is a sticky material. It might get damaged when exposed to excessive, e.g. putting golf clubs harshly into the golf bag.

How can I clean my grips?

When the grips get dirty, wash them with water or with a synthetic detergent.

Please do not use thinner or any other solvents.
